Lettings Director

Experience

I began my career in lettings in 2013 in East London and won the Gold Peoples Award for Best Estate Agent in E15 as well as the Top Performer & Best Customer Service Award.

I decided to take on a new challenge closer to Central London and became a Senior Lettings negotiator in London Bridge. Whilst in this position I learnt how to be a top lister, gained knowledge on how to accurately value a property as well as remaining the top lettings negotiator within the company.

I began working for Greater London Properties in 2017, I instantly knew that I had found the perfect Estate Agent for me; a fast moving, innovative & fiercely independent company who are the market leaders of their trade. I thoroughly enjoy being surrounded by a motivated team of people. I was quickly promoted to Branch Manager, and now proudly head of the successful Lettings Team as Lettings Director.

Since joining I completed my ARLA certification, extending my knowledge in Property, Lettings and Up to Date Legislation.

After many years in the industry, I have built up a 'street by street' knowledge of the villages that make up central London, as well as gaining a wealth of experience which has fuelled my ongoing passion in property.

Why am I good at my job

My main goal is to eradicate the stereotype of estate agents. I always give the most honest & professional advice, whilst creating the most amazing long-standing relationships with clients along the way.

My aim is for everyone that crosses my path, walks away feeling happier to have seen me that day.

“We've been working with GLP for a long time both as landlords and tenants and they are great. Never, ever had a small issue, they are attentive, accurate and trustworthy, always quick in responding to any question or matter. Megan is just amazing, always smiling and polite, a great professional. They are really good in trying to do the best both for tenants and landlord, I really appreciate their dedication and passion.”
